Marriott Library Classrooms & Labs

The Knowledge Commons at the Marriott Library is responsible for scheduling and maintaining a large number of classrooms

The new Level 1 classrooms have state of the art podiums, dual projectors and screens, plus flat panel screens for viewing by students in the back rows.

and computer labs that can be used by faculty and students.

OVERVIEW

There are currently eleven classrooms and computer labs on Level 1 that are open for use. Eight of these are new additions that were completed during the Marriott Library's recent remodel. These new facilities feature state of the art multimedia presentation capabilities and are designed for ease of use by instructors. Each classroom has an audio-visual equipment suite, a Mac and a PC, and can project any type of presentation. The facilities can be scheduled through an online system available on the Knowledge Commons' web site.

AUDIO-VISUAL EQUIPMENT

All of the classrooms feature a full suite of audio-visual equipment. There is a VCR/DVD player and full audio capabilities that can be controlled through the podium display. Audio CDs or DVDs played through the computers are also able to use the sound system. All of the newest rooms feature dual projectors, two projection screens, and two flat screen monitors for student viewing in the back rows. The control displays at the podiums allow the instructor a wide variety of options for displaying material, including a document camera. Contact the Classroom Specialist or a Knowledge Commons staff member for a tour of the rooms or a basic lesson in how to use the equipment before your classes begin.

COMPUTING

Each room has one Mac and one PC at the podium for instructor use. The computer labs will also feature large numbers of either Macs or PCs, which feature over 300 software applications and utilities. All computer systems are able to play audio CDs, DVDs, and can use a variety of multimedia storage devices. The computers use the UNID system for authentication, so classes for non-U of U students will need to make arrangements with the Knowledge Commons staff prior to their class. Additional software can be installed upon request.

Both Mac and PC computer labs are available for scheduling. There are over 300 programs on the lab computers.
